FOYER HELPS NATASHA TO TURN HER LIFE AROUND

Abingdon charity helps teenager find work and get her life back on track

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

A TROUBLED teenager has managed to transform her life after finding help from an Abingdon charity.

Two and a half years ago Natasha Greenway, now 19, was living with her mum in Abingdon, where she was often getting into trouble.

But after moving to The Square-based Abingdon Foyer, which provides a home for vulnerable 16 to 25-year-olds, Natasha has managed to find a job and is preparing to move into her own flat.

Speaking about life before moving to Abingdon Foyer, Natasha said: "It was bad, I was always getting into dodgy situations and was often involved with dangerous people.

"This wasn't good for me or my mum so the social services suggested that I apply to move into Abingdon Foyer."

Natasha moved into the Foyer and, with the encouragement of staff, began going to job fairs and received training on interview techniques, before finding herself work as a shop assistant.

"I've been working for three months now and feel that my confidence has massively increased," Natasha added.

"When I first moved into the Foyer I was always in trouble and getting hurt, but now I feel that things have changed for the better.

"With the Foyer's help I have managed to get my first ever job and I feel I have grown up a lot in the last two and a half years."

Natasha is currently sharing a two-bedroom flat at the Foyer, and is planning to move into her own flat at the start of next year.

Gill Wilsker, manager of Abingdon Foyer, said: "We are incredibly proud of Natasha, she's come such a long way.

"She was very young when she moved into the Foyer and has matured and developed a great deal.

Gill added: "Natasha is now able to look after herself safely which she wasn't able to do before, and it's been great to see her developing the skills she needs to go on to live securely in the community."

Residents' concern for 1,400 homes in Chilton

A PROPOSAL to build 1,400 houses on greenfield land next to Chilton has raised concerns from village residents and Oxfordshire rural campaigners.

A draft from Vale of White Horse District Council's Local Plan included two 'strategic development sites' near Chilton, which would see 850 houses built to the east of Harwell and 550 built to the north of the village.

The proposals could alter the boundaries of the North Wessex Downs Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), which is just a few miles from Chilton.

According to the Campaign to Protect Rural England (CPRE) Oxfordshire, the 1,400 homes in the AONB in the Vale, should it go ahead, would be the largest greenfield housing allocation nationally within a protected landscape.

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

And CPRE Oxfordshire believes the housing numbers are too high, stating the 'constraint of the AONB' has not been taken into account.

As a result, the group thinks the number of houses should be reduced.

Helen Marshall, director of CPRE Oxfordshire, said: "If the council approves these speculative applications, it will damage this protected landscape."

Chris Broad, chairman of Chilton Parish Council, said: "The infrastructure in our village is already at capacity.

"It is now important to protect the AONB as accessible countryside."

More than 250 houses have already been built on brownfield land on Harwell Campus, in Chilton parish, increasing the village's population by 80 per cent.

Four additional planning applications have also been made for sites around Chilton for a total of 167 houses.

Andrew Lord, former planning advisor to the North Wessex Downs AONB, sent a letter to leader of Vale District Council Matthew Barber, stating: "It is in the long-term public interest to secure the conservation and enhancement of our nationally protect landscapes."

The AONB unit has also requested that the proposed sites be deleted from the local plan.

Cllr Barber said: 'We understand their concerns on this development.

"There are a number of housing concerns in the village of Chilton. However, we can't stop people making planning applications.

"The people of Chilton have their right to raise their views and the details they have raised will be taken into account."

The district council is currently considering the planning applications in Chilton.

New mayors appointed across the county

TOWNS across Oxfordshire have been selecting their mayors for the annual term over the last few weeks.

Rae Humberstone was chosen to be the Lord Mayor of Oxford, taking over the role from Mohammed Abbasi at the mayor-making ceremony on Monday.

Cllr Humberstone, who is the outgoing Sheriff of Oxford, said: "I feel that it is a great honour and privilege to have been chosen as Oxford's next Lord Mayor.

"Oxford is a city of great tradition in which the role plays an important part.

"I am immensely proud to have the chance to play my part in that tradition."

The new mayor chose Blackbird Leys Adventure Playground, the Parasol Project and TRAX as his charities for 2015-16.

A full list of mayors is on the right. Witney's mayor was due to be selected last night as the Guardian went to press.

John promoted to deputy chief constable for Thames Valley

THE new deputy chief constable for Thames Valley Police has been appointed.

John Campbell was promoted to the role last Friday to succeed Francis Habgood, who himself was elevated to chief constable earlier this year.

DCC Campbell was chosen for the job by the force's selection panel, and comes after previously working as the acting deputy chief constable.

"It's a real honour to have been selected," said DCC Campbell.

"I look forward to building on Francis's successes in the role and supporting him in serving residents across the Thames Valley.

"My key role, along with others, is to make sure our communities have a police service that meets their needs and keeps them safe."

DCC Campbell began his police career in 1988 with West Midlands Police, arriving in the Thames Valley in July 2010.

Chief constable Habgood said: "I am delighted to announce that John will be taking over the role of DCC.

"Having spent six years in the role myself, I firmly understand the opportunities and challenges he will be presented with and I have every confidence that with John's experience he will deliver for the organisation."

New chairman

OXON: John Sanders, Oxfordshire county councillor for Cowley, has been elected Chairman for the council this year.

Cllr Sanders has taken over the role from Wheatley councillor Anne Purse, and has lived in Oxford for 38 years, serving as a county councillor since 2005.

The new chairman previously worked as an IT consultant and project manager, as well as being a governor at Oxford Spires Academy.

Bicester councillor Michael Waine has been made deputy chairman.

P&R prices up

OXON: Oxford Bus Company has announced it is upping the ticket fare for its Park and Ride services.

Customers wanting an adult peak return from any of Oxford's Park and Rides will cost £2.80 from May 31.

A new Park and Ride adult period return has also been introduced, allowing customers to go and come back within 72 hours, costing £3.

An unlimited 72-hour city zone pass has also been launched, which will cost customers £10.

Pub assault

CARTERTON: Police are appealing for information after a 22-year-old woman was assaulted inside Carterton's Golden Eagle pub on Black Bourton Road last Sunday.

At around 1.40am, the victim was verbally abused by another woman at the bar, who proceeded to grab and pull the victim's hair.

The victim managed to get free from the offender, who is described as white, in her early 20s, about 5ft 6ins tall, and of medium to large build with shoulder length brown or ginger hair and wearing a navy top with beige polka dots.

The victim sustained bruising and scratching from the incident.

Anyone with information is asked to call PC Matthew Glen on 101.

Council set to slash bus service funding

MORE than 100 bus services across the county are under threat after Oxfordshire County Council revealed plans for £6.25million of transport cuts.

The council is looking to find an extra £2.56m of savings on top of the £3.69m cuts that were announced last year.

It is looking to slash funding on subsidised bus services – routes which are partially financed by the council because it is not commercially viable for operators to run them.

And the Dial-a-Ride service for people who are mobility impaired could also be scrapped as a result of the cuts.

Hugh Jaeger, chairman of Bus Users Oxford, described the news as the "biggest, deepest and worst public transport cuts that Oxfordshire has seen".

He added: "Obviously it could affect quite significant-sized villages that have one or more than one hourly bus service to nearby towns or Oxford.

"Ninety per cent of bus journeys that people make in Oxfordshire are not subsidised, but the 10 per cent that are on subsidised routes are in great danger.

"My guess is we could see something in the order of half of all bus services cut."

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

The extra £2.56m of cuts comes after savings of £3.69m were made from the council implementing a Transport Hub – a single department for all supported transport services in the county.

And the council's cabinet is set to discuss the extra cuts when it next meets at County Hall in Oxford on May 26.

In a report ahead of the meeting, the council's director for environment and economy Sue Scane said: "Given that we are now in a position where we need to make savings of £2.56m, it is appropriate that we revisit which subsidised bus services we should prioritise and why.

"While all subsidised services are of value and significance to the communities they serve, we believe that it's the council's first duty to protect our most vulnerable transport users.

"Through negotiations with bus operators we would aim to get the best possible deal for Oxfordshire."

The cabinet is recommended to approve a 12-week public consultation on the cuts at its meeting later this month.

FA Cup quest for Oxford hospice

THREE football fans have kicked off their fundraising campaign to visit all 43 grounds of the FA Cup winning teams to raise money for Oxford children's hospice Helen & Douglas House.

Cris Bowden, Steve Hall and Richard Eldred, all from Newbury, are planning to use 50 different modes of transport as they complete their quest.

They came to Oxford on Tuesday - the second day of their journey – where they went out onto the river using a punt, rowing boat and pedalo, before heading up to Coventry City that evening.

And the trio are raising money for Helen & Douglas House after Steve's former neighbour, six-year-old Ellie, stayed at the hospice.

Cris said: "At just two weeks old Ellie nearly died in intensive care and at the same time her parents learned she was severely disabled.

"The staff at Helen & Douglas House have supported Ellie's parents and allowed them to come to terms with what has happened.

"Having visited the hospice, we felt that it should become an annual event to help raise funds for the brilliant work of the hospice.

"This year we felt that we needed a bit more of a challenge so we decided to see how easy it was to get people to donate unique transport to us to travel around the country."

Rogue landlord

OXFORD: An Oxford landlord has been given a 220-hour community service order after being found guilty of illegally evicting a tenant and her family.

Simon Sarbon, 40, of Garsington Road, was found guilty of unlawful eviction and appeared in Oxford Magistrates Court last Monday.

Sarbon was also ordered to pay £1,699 compensation to his victims after the Court heard that he unlawfully evicted his 47-year-old tenant, her children and her grandchild from their Phillips Road home last September.

He evicted them by changing the locks to the property whilst the family were away visiting family.

The landlord removed all of their belongings, which he dumped in a damp shed, leading to most of the possessions being lost or destroyed.

Dementia boxes

OXFORD: Oxford University Hospital's NHS Trust has introduced memory boxes for patients with dementia that are designed to help their treatment.

The boxes, introduced on Tuesday, contain bright, primary coloured objects such as blankets, clocks and iPods 'to offer comfort and stimulation' to patients.

The introduction of the machines and boxes marked Dementia Awareness Week, running since Monday.

First plans for Barton Park homes go on show

• An artist's impression of the Barton Park homes

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

PROPOSALS for the first batch of homes to be built on the Barton Park development in Oxford were unveiled to the public at the weekend.

Plans for the first 237 homes from housing developer Hill went on display at the Barton Neighbourhood Centre on Saturday.

Around 40 residents visited the centre to view the plans for the homes, of which 142 will be privately owned and the remaining 95 bought by Oxford City Council for social housing.

Headington resident Tony Turton was one of those who looked at the plans, and he said: "I like the general idea of the design.

"We know that Oxford has a horrendous housing problem and we basically need to build more houses, and this is one of the few places within the city boundaries where there is land that's available to be built on.

"My main concerns now are the way in which the new development will connect with existing developments, both the other side of the A40 in Northway and the existing Barton development.

"I think those are questions that need to be addressed over the next 12 or 15 months before people start moving in."

A total of 885 homes are being built as part of Barton Park, in collaboration with Hill, fellow housebuilder Grosvenor and the city council.

Jamie Wilding, senior development manager at Hill, said: "I think Oxford has a real need for new housing.

"This is the first time we've shown the public and the community our proposals for Barton Park, so we're looking to hear whether people like our plans.

Fears for children's safety over A40 fence

THE possible removal of a fence separating an area used by children to play near the A40 in Oxford could lead to them "being killed", a local resident has said.

Georgina Gibbs, of the Northway Residents Group, raised concerns that a fence preventing access to the A40 from the green space near Foxwell Drive could be taken down as part of the nearby Barton Park housing development.

The issue was raised at a public meeting about the development last week.

Mrs Gibbs said: "The barrier was put up there in 1952 because children got out when the estate was built onto the A40.

"In the late 1960s the city council put up metal fencing, so why break it down now when the traffic, even at 50mph, will kill our children?"

But Bob Price, leader of the city council, said that if the fence was taken down, it would only be a temporary measure while the area is being re-landscaped, and would then be replaced.

He said: "We are committed as a council to ensuring that the area is re-established as a green area and the safety and security that was there before is maintained.

"If there's an immediate issue of safety then we'll put temporary fencing up there, but in the long-term we intend to re-establish that area as a green landscaped area in a suitable way."

Tributes paid to former mayor Val

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

TRIBUTES have flooded in following the death of former Oxfordshire County and Oxford City councillor and previous Lord Mayor of Oxford Val Smith, who died on Friday.

Val, wife to newly re-elected Oxford East MP Andrew Smith, passed away in her sleep at Sobell House.

She had represented Blackbird Leys on the city council for 27 years before stepping down last September after her cancer became more aggressive.

Val had lived in Oxford since she was 16 and met Andrew when he was studying in the city, before going on to marry in 1976.

Andrew said: "Our beautiful Val passed away peacefully in her sleep at Sobell House this morning.

"I have lost the most wonderful loving wife who has been my rock and inspiration, and in our family a devoted mother and grandmother.

"Val brought so much joy to all who knew her, helped so many people and worked tirelessly for the community she loved. We will miss her so much."

Val became a city councillor for Blackbird Leys in 1987, and became Lord Mayor of Oxford in 1999.

Peter Sloman, chief executive of the city council, said: "Val was held in high regard and affection by council staff both past and present who worked with her over many years.

"It is a sad day for the council and our heartfelt best wishes go out to Andrew and Val's family members."

The Oxford East Conservative Association (OECA) also expressed their sadness and condolences at the news.

OECA deputy chairman Samuel Burgess said: "Val's reputation as a kind, compassionate and hard working member of the community preceded her.

"She will undoubtedly be missed by many; our thoughts are with her husband Andrew and all of her family and friends at this time."

And fellow county councillors paid tributes to Val, who served the Leys and Lye division for nine years.

• Former county and city councillor Val Smith, who died last Friday.

Cllr Rodney Rose, deputy leader of the county council, said: "Val was an articulate and hard-working councillor who rolled up her sleeves and served her electors with distinction for several decades.

"She was held in great respect across the political divide and commanded respect among officers and councillors alike.

He added: "There is great sadness at her passing."

Cllr Liz Brighouse, leader of the Labour group at the county council, said: "Val was a wonderful, trusted colleague and friend for many years.

She was the personification of what a good local councillor should be."

Val leaves behind husband Andrew, son Luke, and 16-year-old granddaughter Mirai.

Park End Street set to partially close

A MAJOR Oxford street will be partially closed for six weeks as work continues on the revised road alignment of Frideswide Square.

The next phrase of the project, which began in February, involves work in front of the Royal Oxford Hotel.

Therefore, Oxfordshire County Council has decided to close part of Park End Street at its junction with Rewley Road.

The phase will involve more granite kerbing being laid and the creation of a new carriageway.

The closure will come into force from May 26, with an expected duration of six weeks.

Access to and from Rewley Road, Upper Fisher Row and Hythe Bridge Street will be via Park End Street and Worcester Street.

The Royal Oxford Hotel will remain open during the work.

David Nimmo Smith, the county council's cabinet member for transport, said: "Work is going well and the area outside the business school is really shaping up."

The upgrade works to Frideswide Square are expected to finish towards the end of the year.

Extra funding boost for charity Restore

AN OXFORD-BASED mental health charity which won a national award and £30,000 of funding back in March has scooped an extra £10,000 at the prize-giving ceremony.

Restore, which has its headquarters on Manzil Way, was chosen for special recognition at the GSK Impact Awards at a ceremony held in London last Thursday.

They were selected for their work in helping people with mental health issues keep or secure employment, and received an extra £10,000 as a result.

Martin Realey, chief executive of Restore, said: "We feel tremendously privileged to be recognised for the work we are doing to combat the stigma associated with mental illness.

"By highlighting there is a stigma we are acknowledging this is an area of health still suffering from discrimination.

"The recognition this award gives is another blow in that fight."

Restore won the GSK Impact award in March, after fending off competition from more than 350 charities across the UK to claim the £30,000 prize.

• Martin Realey (third left) and Gemma Humphrey (second right) from Restore celebrate their win with representatives from The King's Fund and GSK

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

The awards, run in association with health charity The King's Fund, are open to charities with an annual income of £25,000 and £2m.

Last year Restore helped 763 people with mental health problems in their work through one-to-one coaching and providing work-like activities such as gardening and woodwork.

Katie Pinnock, director of UK corporate contributions at GSK, said: "I am delighted that Restore are this year's overall winners of the awards.

"Their collaborative approach demonstrates real commitment to improving service provision and helping overcome stigma in mental health."

As well as receiving a total of £40,000 of funding, Restore will also be able to join the GSK Impact Network of previous winners and access a joint training programme.

Appointment of Oxford's new bishop put back to 2016

THE search for a new Bishop of Oxford has been postponed until next year after the Oxford Crown Nominations Commission (CNC) could not come to a decision on a candidate for the role.

The Rt Reverend Colin Fletcher is set to continue in his role as Acting Bishop of Oxford after no candidate received the required number of votes for nomination when the commission met last week.

The Oxford CNC is set to reconvene on February 4 next year with the second meeting scheduled for March 7 and 8.

Bishop Colin said: "While it is clearly disappointing that the vacancy is being extended, it is of course vitally important that the right appointment is made."

A letter from Justin Welby, Archbishop of Canterbury, to the Diocese of Oxford said: "I am writing to advise that the Commission has been unable to discern the candidate of whom God is calling at this stage to be next Bishop of Oxford."

It continued: "This will not be the news that you wanted to hear but please take this as a sign of our commitment to finding the right person to be your next bishop."

Police duo talked dad out of suicide

TWO officers were commended after preventing a father from committing suicide.

PC Lauren Carey and PC Jonathan Lewis, of the tactical firearms crew, successfully talked a man out of jumping to his death from a bridge in Oxford.

The man was viewed to have been 'clearly very emotional' and told the officers that he had a son and to tell his family how sorry he was.

The two were among a host of Thames Valley Police workers who were honoured at the LPA Commendation Ceremony.

Among those commended was mental health nurse Kathy Smith White, who supported police across Oxfordshire via the Street Triage scheme that was introduced on January 1 this year.

The scheme has subsequently been rolled out across the force after Kathy's success with the scheme, and gained an 85 per cent reduction in the use of custody as a place of safety.

Also commended was Sgt Mark Brock, of Oxford South East division, who was awarded a good conduct and long service medal after 20 years with the force.

Officers honoured for their life-saving actions

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

POLICE officers that stopped a woman from taking her own life were commended at a Thames Valley Police LPA commendation ceremony last Wednesday.

Sgt Graham Weir, 34 and PC Simon Gray, 42, were honoured at a special ceremony in Oxford Town Hall by the city's LPA commander Supt Christian Bunt.

The officers were called at 6.30pm on November 17 last year to reports that a woman, in her 20s, had climbed on to Folly Bridge in Oxford and was attempting to take her own life.

DCI Andy Bird, who gave a speech on the incident before the duo were handed their medal, described the scene as 'dark and cold with the river in full flow'.

Upon arriving on the scene, Sgt Weir spoke to the girl, who was on the other side of the wall, whilst PC Gray formulated an emergency contingency plan with Oxfordshire Fire and Rescue.

But after 20 minutes of discussion, the girl attempted to jump, and Sgt Weir grabbed the woman's legs to stop her from falling, while PC Gray kept hold of the sergeant as two other men aided them.

The four men eventually managed to pull the woman over the bridge safely.

Speaking after the ceremony, PC Gray said: "It was all about trying to change her mindset of what was about to occur.

"It's our job to protect human life and that's what we were thinking when we got there."

Sgt Weir spoke about the conversation he had with the distressed woman and said: "She told me she had nothing to live for.

"She was insistent that she didn't want our help, that she'd tried to get help on previous occasions and that it had never helped."

The young woman, in her 20s, had tied her hands together with shoelaces before she attempted to jump, and Sgt Weir said it was about appealing to her on a human level.

He added: "It was all about common sense, there was an element of training for it, but we just appealed to her on a human level."

PC put a stop to domestic abuse of girl

A POLICE officer who handled an investigation into a man who domestically abused his daughter and then 'almost scalped' a neighbour was also commended at the LPA Commendation Ceremony.

PC Dawn Evans, 39, who works in the Barton area, managed the investigation over the course of a year in which a man, that was known to have a domestically violent relationship with his 18-year-old daughter, assaulted a neighbour on May 2 last year.

PC Evans, who had built up a working relationship with the neighbour, said: "I'm very proud of the work I've done. The people of Barton, who I work with on a daily basis, believe I'm fair.

"We needed to bring him down so everybody else knew that they could not be scared of him anymore. The fear had been there for years."

The offender used the join of a curtain pole to seriously injure the victim, which PC Evans believes 'almost scalped the man'.

PC Evans added that when it comes to these kinds of incidents, it's about trying to get into their minds.

The offender is currently awaiting sentencing.

Petition against 'ready meal' kitchens handed in

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

• Jenny Hannaby and Alex Meredith hand over the petition to Oxford NHS Foundation Trust's Justinian Habner (right)

A PETITION against plans to close hospital kitchens across Oxfordshire and replace them with a 'ready meal' service was handed into Oxford Health NHS Foundation Trust last Friday.

The petition, which has been signed by 474 people, was handed over to trust secretary Justinian Habner by one of the petition's lead organisers, Faringdon town councillor Alex Meredith.

Campaigners are hoping to force a consultation on the plans before the 'cook chill' policy is introduced within community hospitals in Wallingford, Didcot, Witney, Wantage and Chipping Norton.

The trust has so far refused to consult patients and local members of the public about the proposed closures, with the 'cook chill' meals already being served to most patients at all of the Trust's mental health hospitals.

Cllr Meredith said: "This is the conclusion of months of hard work and is a very important issue in regards to patients being allowed to make choices on what they want to eat."

Independent assessments carried out by PLACE (patient-led-assessments of the care of the environment) last year revealed that patients were satisfied with the 'cook-chill' service.

However, in a survey carried out by the campaigners, they found that seven out of 10 people in the area oppose the kitchen closures and they want a public consultation about the move.

County councillor for Wantage Jenny Hannaby was present whilst the petition was handed over and said: "Patients' lives in hospitals are organised around food and they like to build relationships with the cooks.

"By introducing this policy, they are being robbed of their routine that usually gets them back to health much faster."

A spokesperson for the Oxford Health NHS Foundation Trust said: "We recognise that patients and staff are used to having their food cooked and prepared on site and that there may be some resistance to change.

"However, we believe that a new unified system needs to be introduced for the benefit of both patients and the trust as a whole."

The petition will be reported to the trust's board at a meeting at the end of the month.

BMW worker convicted of £5.9m fraud

A BMW worker has been convicted after pleading guilty to six counts of fraud that totalled almost £6m over three years.

Johannes Franken, of Fockbury Road, Bromsgrove, was previously charged on January 29 with three counts of fraud by false representation and one count of possessing criminal property.

Franken was then charged with a further two counts of fraud by false representation on February 13 and pleaded guilty to all charges last Tuesday at Oxford Crown Court.

The offences are said to have occurred between September 2011 and December 2014, with Franken's offences including altering supplier invoices and payments to divert them to his own account.

Over the three years, Franken made 59 separate transactions, with the largest single transaction totalling over £278,000.

Det Sgt Duncan Wynn from the Economic Crime Unit said: "He has systematically abused his position of trust with his employer to steal large sums of money which he spent on a lavish lifestyle."

Franken is due to be sentenced at Oxford Crown Court on June 16.

£300m partnership set up to develop scientific research

A NEW £300m partnership between Oxford University and a city-based scientific institute is set to become one of the largest business partnerships in the UK.

The university has launched the partnership with Oxford Sciences Innovation (OSI) as they attempt to create spin-out companies and develop scientific research.

It has established OSI as its preferred partner for the provision of capital for spin-off companies.

OSI is raising £300m for the project, with £210m already committed by six investors - Invesco Asset Management, IP Group, Lansdowne Partners, Oxford University Endowment Fund, The Wellcome Trust and Woodford Investment Management.

Oxford University's vice-chancellor, Professor Andrew Hamilton, said: "The university is a long-established engine of global economic growth.

He contiuned: "Spin-outs based on our research have an impressive track record of generating innovative breakthroughs and new employment regionally, nationally and internationally.

"Oxford Sciences Innovation is an exciting new development and Oxford University looks forward to working closely with our partners there and creating many more companies which will stand among the world's leading science-based enterprises."

OSI will be chaired by David Norwood, the founder of IP Group, who was full of praise for the university, calling it "the birthplace of some of the best science in the world and some of the biggest ideas in history".

The partnership also comes as Oxford University announced this week they had achieved a landmark in European university fundraising history as their 'Oxford Thinking' campaign to raise funds for teaching and research.

They have now raised more than £2bn since the campaign began in 2004, with almost 50,000 gifts being made during that time.

Ex-teacher jailed for sex offences

A FORMER Oxford and Kidlington primary school teacher has been convicted of historic sex offences against a boy in the 1970s.

John Collier, 70, of Leafield Road in Cowley, was found guilty by a jury of four counts of indecent assault on a boy aged between seven and 11 at Oxford Crown Court on May 8.

It is in relation to offences committed at North Kidlington Primary School between September 1971 and July 1975, and at St Ebbes First School Oxford between September 1977 and July 1978.

Collier was first arrested in November 2013 and charged in July 2014, before the conclusion of his four-day trial earlier this month.

Investigating officer Det Con Sarah Berry said: "I am extremely happy with this verdict, particularly as these offences happened 40 years ago.

"A number of victims and other witnesses came to the police with information about Collier and this conviction is wholly due to their compelling evidence and bravery in coming forward.

"There may be other victims who wish to speak to the police and I ask them to contact me via 101."

Collier is scheduled to return to Oxford Crown Court on June 6 for sentencing.

Pilot Amanda is taking to the skies for epic journey

• Amanda Harrison (right) in the plane that will take her to Australia

A BRIZE Norton pilot is preparing to recreate the journey of the first solo female flight from Britain to Australia this summer in a 1930s tiger moth bi-plane.

Amanda Harrison will fly 9,735 miles from Croydon to Darwin in 19 days and follow in the footsteps of Amy Johnson, who first made the voyage in May 1930.

Worksop-born Amanda, who has lived in Brize Norton for eight years, was inspired to make the journey after reading about Amy's story.

By Marie Stuart
news@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"A lot of Amy's life is similar to my own," said Amanda.

"She was such a courageous person, just stepping into an aeroplane and making her mind up and just doing it.

"And flying for me just breeds that adventure, I just want to get in the plane and go."

Amanda's route will largely follow the one Amy took 85 years ago across Europe, Asia, Indonesia and Australia, landing in 16 countries across the way.

It would have been a much more straightforward journey for Amy back then, without needing permission to land in many fields and runways throughout the British Empire.

On her route Amanda will be faced with problems including navigating through mountain ranges, deserts, and avoiding warzones in Iraq and Syria.

"Although we have GPS and weather maps that Amy didn't have, there will still be difficulties," Amanda added.

Amanda first started flying as a teenager after picking up the bug from her model airplane-making father Richard, and she obtained her pilots license in 2001 at the age of 24.

She continued: "I inherited the love of flying from my dad who never had the chance to fly.

"One of his memorable models was of a Paddington bear flying on top of a marmalade sandwich!

"But as soon as I was in the air, I felt at home and knew what I wanted to do with my life."

MP's Corner

John Howell
MP for Henley

MP pleased with largest majority

I am glad to be back in Parliament. My election saw me return with a majority of over 25,000, making it the largest Conservative majority in Oxfordshire.

That means that a majority of people of this constituency have put their trust in me as their MP and it is a trust that I am keen to repay over the course of the next five years.

Since the election, there have been some who have tried to urge me to look again at the need for proportional representation, particularly in view of what they see as my 'safe' constituency.

There are no 'safe' constituencies. In each we need to work hard all the time to maintain support for and interest in what we do.

There is no appetite for proportional representation - it was only recently defeated in a referendum at the beginning of the last parliament.

However each vote should have the same value and thus there is a move to even up the number of people in constituencies eligible to vote so that the same number of votes is required to elect an MP in each constituency.

Overall, we have a clear plan for a better future for Britain. That means we need to build a stronger, healthier economy and secure a better future for us all.

That means dealing with our debts, helping taxpayers be more financially secure, and backing small business.

Above all it is about ensuring that the next generation can get on in life and delivering the best schools and skills for young people.

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

Bowling Green at Richmond Witney

Richmond Witney – The ideal combination of independence, community and support

The forthcoming Richmond Witney Retirement Village promises to provide far more than just a new home. With on-site facilities to rival a 5 star hotel and accommodation to cater for the younger, independent living retirees through to those who require 24-hour nursing care, Richmond Witney will be a facility unlike any other in the area. With the majority of the first phase of Village Apartments now reserved, they have just launched their Village Suite apartments. The Suites are close to all the amenities such as the restaurant, activities room, library and Wellness Spa giving you everything you need on your doorstep.

Living in a Richmond Village Suite means enjoying life in a safe, caring and socially active and supportive community. Sometimes referred to as 'Assisted Living' or 'Extra Care', all Village Suites come with an all-inclusive services package leaving you more time to do the things you enjoy! To find out more, Oxfordshire Guardian spoke to Richmond Villages Operations Director, Susie Oakley.

What is Richmond Villages' philosophy around maintaining independence?

It is a philosophy of care and support services that promotes independence, dignity and well-being. It is now firmly established as an alternative to residential care, where people can retain much of their independence in a socially active community. By purchasing a Village Suite in a Richmond Retirement Village, it's an ideal combination of having your own front door but with the reassurance that care and support is available on site 24 hours a day.

Susie Oakley, Operations Director at Richmond Villages

So, are Village Suites all about promoting independence?

Absolutely! By providing supervision or assistance with activities of daily living, people who are finding it difficult to live independently at home, but do not need the 24 hour care provided by a care home, are able to enjoy prolonged independence in a safe, caring, socially active and supportive environment.

Do people own the Suites?

We are still very much a nation of home owners and the majority of people do prefer to purchase the Suites, meaning they retain equity and reduce outgoings.

What does the all-inclusive package provide?

The package is designed to take away the daily chores and allow people more quality time to enjoy the things that they prefer to do! This means that we prepare all meals, which can be taken either in the restaurant or brought to the Suite, a daily housekeeping service and all laundry. All utility costs are also included within the package.

Suite living room at Richmond Villages' other retirement village at Letcombe Regis near Wantage

Is additional help and support available?

Where people require additional help and support, this is arranged by our own domiciliary care agency to meet the individual needs of that person. The advantage with this is that our staff only look after people living at a Richmond Retirement Village meaning those receiving care in their Suite mostly get to see the same carers every day. Should care needs ever increase, then there is also the reassurance of our on-site Care Home providing 24 hour nursing and dementia care. However, one of the most important parts of life at Richmond Villages is social interaction with like-minded people. Our activity co-ordinators ensure there is a full diary of activities and events, plus having our own full time driver and fleet of vehicles means there are scheduled daily trips to local towns as well as social outings to places of interest.

What kind of social activities can I expect?

We try and make sure there is something for everyone, so the activity team organise activities and events based on residents interests. This hopefully means there is a wide choice with everything from book clubs to bridge, or learning a new skill such as painting or learning to use a computer. We are also fortunate to have our very own Wellness Spa so residents can simply go for a swim or relax in the Jacuzzi, or take part in one of the many classes such as Tai Chi or aqua aerobics. The one thing I hear most from residents is that their social calendar is busier than ever since they moved here!

To find out more about the Village Suites at Richmond Witney call in to the Sales & Marketing Suite situated at 58 High Street in Witney town centre. The Village Advisers, Mark and Nev, are available Monday – Saturday 10am – 4pm. They can be contacted on 01993 768692 or visit www.richmond-villages.com/witney. For those with ipads, then download the free Richmond Witney app from the App Store; simply search Richmond Witney.

An Acoustic Spectacular

ACOUSTIC group Gypsy Fire will be performing at The Chipping Norton Theatre tomorrow evening, Friday May 22.

By James Richings
jamesr@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Playing at the Spring Street theatre for the first time in two years, the four friends of Stuart Carter-Smith (guitar), Will Barnes (guitar), Paul Jeffries (bass) and Ben Holder (violin) visit the venue with their brand new show, 'Acoustic Spectacular', with Paul believing the show will have something for everyone.

"We have a whole new show in store and it features four acts, four changes of clothing and it's probably best described as a musical journey through style and time featuring lots of memorable tunes and some pretty virtuosic playing," he told the Guardian.

"There's classical music with pieces from Handel, Grieg and Monti, then a trip through to swing and jazz from Gershwin, Berlin and Parker, followed by a medley of fabulous film tunes.

"Finally, we're right up to date with five original prices composed by the four of us."

Starting in a church choir, Paul learnt how to play the guitar and bass at a young age, where he would emulate the Beatles and the Rolling Stones on homemade instruments with friends.

However it wasn't until his 30s where he first fell in love with jazz, which gave him the opportunity to join Gypsy Fire.

"I started learning double bass 10 years ago and began digesting both jazz and classical techniques with two excellent local teachers," he said.

"A chance meeting at a café in Cirencester introduced me to the early version of Gypsy Fire, which was normally in those days a duo.

"I joined a few months later at the same time as our violinist Ben about four years ago."

Paul is also no stranger to performing in Oxfordshire, having made a number of appearances at the Oxford Wine Café.

Most Sundays, the instrumentalist regularly jams with artists at the café, and he revealed how he got involved with the Summertown business.

"It was a connection with one of their managers, Theo Sloot," he said.

"Theo and I played in a fabulous blues band called Frassani years ago, and when the owner of the Oxford Wine Company asked him to start up some regular jazz for the occasional Sunday evening, he thought of me and my escapades with jazz around the area.

"We all met, put on a couple of shows and it's grown into a regular intimate concert venue that hosts some of the finest players in the UK."

The show starts at 7.45pm.

Sounds of the vibraphone

HE'S worked alongside Fairground Attraction, Rumer, Paul Weller and Robert Plant.

But now veteran musician Roger Beaujolais is taking his jazz music to the Oxford Wine Café this Sunday, May 24.

"The audience can expect to hear some melodies they know and others that are spontaneously created with the mellow sound of a vibraphone, which I don't think has been seen or heard at The Oxford Wine Cafe before," he told the Guardian.

"I have a large repertoire and don't usually think too much about the tunes I'm going to play beforehand.

"However, there will be a selection of songs from the Great American Songbook from composers such as George Gershwin, Cole Porter, Irving Berlin as well as some written more recently by jazz musicians such as Herbie Hancock, Chick Corea and Wayne Shorter."

The eccentric performer, who has released 18 albums since 1982, will visit the South Parade café for the first time on Sunday, a venue he can add to his collection, as the musician as toured all over the UK, Europe and the US.

By James Richings
jamesr@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"All musicians like the opportunity to express themselves on their instruments and there is no better music to do that with than jazz," he said.

"There aren't many styles of music that vibraphone fits into – or is seen in frequently – so to a certain extent it's a natural style of music for my instrument.

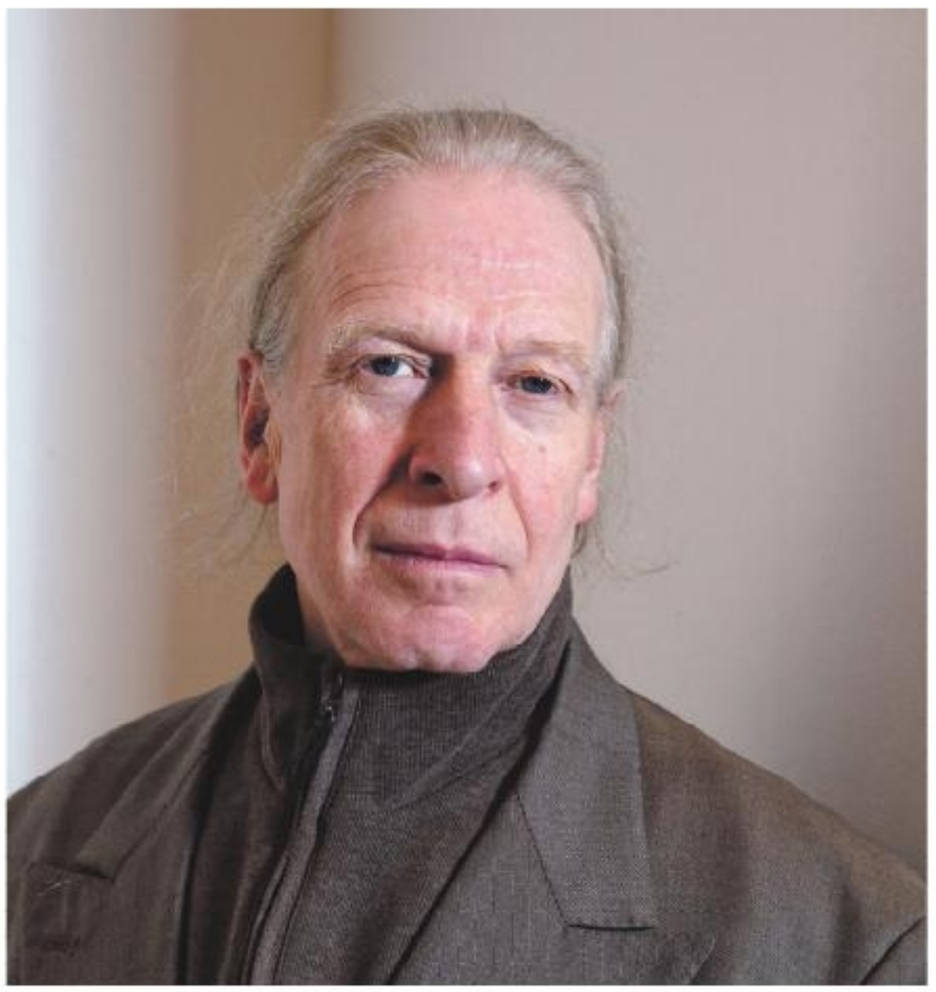
"Despite jazz not being particularly popular, it's still possible to make a living from playing it. In fact, if I played music very few people liked I wouldn't be able to make a living."

The musician also revealed that a new album is on the cards next year.

"I am constantly on tour," he added. "All people need some positivity in their lives and live music is a good source of it. It's a great feeling to be part of that process.

"I will be releasing a new album early 2016 and I've played on sessions and on tour for a host of amazing artists from Rumer to Fairground Attraction, Snowboy to Brian Kennedy, and many, many more."

The free event starts at 6.30pm.



James Arthur

X-FACTOR winner James Arthur will be at the O2 Academy on Monday, 25 May.

The 27-year-old, who defeated Jahméne Douglas in the final in 2012, is currently on tour preforming tracks off his eponymous debut album.

Tickets cost £22.50, with the doors opening at 8pm.

Katherine Ryan

CANADIAN funnywoman Katherine Ryan will be stopping off at Banbury's Mills Arts Centre on Friday, May 29.

The 31-year-old is well known for her appearances on 'Mock the Week' and '8 out of 10 Cats'.

The show starts at 8pm, and tickets cost £15.50 from the Spiceball Park venue.

Adam Barnes

OXFORD born singer-songwriter Adam Barnes will be at Didcot's Cornerstone Arts Centre on Friday, May 29.

The musician will perform tracks off his two albums 'The Land, The Sea & Everything Lost Beneath' and 'Blisters'.

The free event at the Station Road venue starts at 8pm.

Joan's last major tour

SINGER, songwriter and guitarist Joan Armatrading is embarking on her first world solo tour, which comes to the Oxford Playhouse on Thursday, May 28.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Joan's career has spanned more than 40 years, in which time she has released 18 studio albums and performed countless shows all over the world.

But Joan has never done a tour of full scale solo concerts before, so has decided to put that right in what will be her last ever major tour.

"It's not my final tour, it's my final major tour," said Joan. "I do want to perform still but my tours are very long.

"After this tour when I do any kind of performing concerts it will be on a short tour basis, so no longer than a few weeks for instance.

"And this will be the first time I am doing a world tour solo that is without a band, just me on acoustic and electric guitar and playing the piano.

"The audiences have been really before, when I'm there."

Joan released her first album 'Whatever's for Us' back in 1972, with her most recent offering 'Starlight' being released in 2012.

Four of her records made it into the top-10 in the UK album charts, with the 1980 release 'Me Myself I' being the most successful by reaching number five.

And even though she is cutting back on touring, Joan has no plans to slow down with recording new material.

"I will always be writing and recording songs until my dying days," Joan added.

For more details or to book, call the box office on 01865 305305 or go to oxfordplayhouse.com.

Didcot Railway Centre Diesel Gala and Real Ale Festival

THE upcoming bank holiday weekend sees Didcot Railway Centre holding its annual diesel gala, this year, coupled to a Real Ale Festival.

The diesel gala is intended to be what used to be called a "shed bash", which harks back to a time when diesel locomotives were still relatively new, having completely replaced steam locomotives.

Roger Orchard, the Railway Centre Manager said: "We are recreating the atmosphere of 1970s diesel depot open days, where people can climb into the locomotives and see what it was like to drive them."

The main difference between Didcot's diesel gala, and all others, is that visitors can get up close to the locomotives, and in some cases, enter the cab/footplate to discover the driver's perspective.

As well as there being the chance for different locomotive line-ups in front of the engine shed, for photographic purposes.

Guest locomotives include class 56 56006, class 50, 50035 Ark Royal, class 45 45060 Sherwood Forester, and class 03 (shunter) D2120.

56006 was one of the first British designed, but, Romanian built diesel locomotives. Entering service in February 1977, 56006 was the very first British Railways type 5 freight locomotive to enter revenue earning service.

1968 built class 50, 50035 Ark Royal would have been through Didcot station many times during her British Rail (ways) career, as this locomotive spent many years working out of London Paddington station.

1961 built 45060 Sherwood Forester was allocated to the Midland region for all her working life, and was the first of the class to be named after a famous regiment.

D2120 was built at Swindon Works in 1959, and spent all of her working career in the Swansea area, being withdrawn by British Rail in 1986.

That same year, the locomotive was bought by Sir William McAlpine for his private museum at Fawley. This is a very rare chance to see D2120 away from Fawley.

It is hoped to provide guest locomotive surprises during the gala!

From the home fleet, class 14 D9516, class 08 shunter 08604 and GWR Diesel Railcar 22 will be in action.

D9516 was built at Swindon works in 1964, and after less than four years of work for the then British Railways, was sold to Stewarts and Lloyds, which subsequently became (part of) British Steel.

The Real Ale Festival will feature 12 cask beers and 12 "other" bottled beers from the same brewers, as well as six ciders.

There is the added incentive for adults or seniors booking tickets in advance at Ticketweb, of receiving a free DRC beer glass.

The Didcot Railway Centre Diesel Gala and Real Ale Festival takes place over the three days of the bank holiday.

On the Saturday and Sunday, trains run from 1030 to 2000, with the Real Ale Festival running from 1100 – 2300.

On the Monday, trains run from 1030 - 1700, with the Real Ale Festival running from 1100 – 1700.

Entertainment: On Saturday, Tim Valentine (keyboard)

On Sunday, Oxford Ukuleles

On Monday, Troubshort & Turnipseed (Talented duo that include American in their sets)

Rolls-Royce unveil the Wraith

REVIEW: Rolls-Royce Wraith

By James Richings

ROLLS-ROYCE and the world of fashion have long been bound by a common idea – to take the finest materials and craft them into the most exquisite and desirable luxury goods, done to the customer's needs.

And in this case, Rolls-Royce Motor Cars have done so by unveiling the 'Wraith – Inspired by Fashion'.

Fittingly, the marque's first showroom in Conduit Street, Mayfair, was founded a short step from London's famous centre of tailoring excellence, Savile Row.

Here, Sir Henry Royce and his partner Charles Rolls discovered the offerings of their illustrious neighbours by providing London's most stylish residents with the automotive equivalent of the finest cloths.

The customer would then call upon their preferred coachbuilder, who would furnish the car with personal touches and accessories specified to the requirements that were requested from them.

A century later, a bold new generation of customers continue to share the same appetite for commissioning expressions of their taste and lifestyle as 'Wraith – Inspired by Fashion' provides a modern take on this grand tradition.

"This iteration of Wraith provides a canvas for materials and finishes most commonly associated with the world of fashion," said Giles Taylor, director of design for Rolls-Royce.

He continued: "Inspiration was sourced from international catwalks and bespoke tailors, resulting in an aesthetically stunning and sartorially on-point motor car."

On opening the Wraith's coach doors, there is a contemporary impression of the car's classic Arctic white and black interior colour scheme.

Beyond the traditional placement of embroidered headrests, seat stitching and piping, the accent colour has found a new application via a two-tone composition steering wheel.

A highly complex craft technique from the world of fine tailoring has been applied to the wheel.

The contemporary fashion theme is completed with the integration of welting, a specialist technique most commonly associated with bespoke tailoring, presented as a colourful silk strip that frames Wraith's signature leather door-panel.

ALL NEW MAZDA CX-3 SHOWCASED WITH VIRTUAL REALITY TECHNOLOGY

at Johnsons Mazda Oxford

On 25th May, Johnsons Mazda in Oxford will host an exclusive preview of the all-new Mazda CX-3 small crossover SUV, offering customers the chance to experience the car in exciting new ways – both inside and out – in a virtual world using high-tech Oculus Rift virtual reality headsets.

From 12.00 until 16.00 only, the Johnsons Mazda Oxford dealership will host the all-new Mazda CX-3, ahead of its launch this summer. The special event forms part of a nationwide preview tour for the new car, visiting 124 Mazda dealers across the country.

Using the special headsets, customers can interact with a high-definition 3D version of the all-new Mazda CX-3, personalising the car's exterior colours and interior trim in an instant according to their preferences. Alongside this, product specialists will also be on hand to provide an in-depth look into the new small crossover SUV's sophisticated range of comfort, convenience and safety features that make the car stand out in its class.

"The interest we've received in all-new Mazda CX-3 since it was revealed at LA Motor Show has been truly overwhelming. That's just from customers seeing early photographs and videos, so we're sure our preview event will prove extremely popular, especially as this is Mazda's breakthrough model into the small crossover SUV segment," explained Mark Perkins, Dealer Principal at Johnsons Mazda Oxford.

"Using virtual reality Oculus Rift technology will really enhance the experience. Customers will be transported to a virtual environment, where they can explore the details of the vehicle in all sorts of specifications – whether it's colours, equipment, or interior trim."

The new small crossover boasts a variety of efficient, yet powerful petrol engines with six-speed manual or automatic gearboxes. A new 105ps diesel returns incredible fuel economy of up to 70.6mpg and CO_2 emissions from 105g/km – making the Mazda among the cleanest and most efficient in its class. Alongside convention-defying performance, the all-new Mazda CX-3 raises the bar in its class for design, handling, equipment, comfort and safety.

The CX-3 will be onsite during the event and Mazda experts will be on hand to answer any questions you may have.

For more information about the all-new Mazda CX-3 VIP preview event, visit the Johnsons Mazda Oxford showroom or call 01865 240 101.

'Fresh challenge' for City as they go south

OXFORD City manager Justin Merritt has spoken of the 'fresh challenge' awaiting City next year after it was confirmed they would play in the Vanarama Conference South next season.

Merritt's men, who have been competitors in the Conference North for the last three years, were moved to the Conference South on Monday where they will entertain the likes of Basingstoke Town and Bath City.

City's sixth place finish last season was the highest placing in the club's 130-year history, and Merritt believes that the league will be a fresh start for his promotion-targeting team.

He told the Guardian: "It's going to be a tough challenge and a slightly different feel to games. The southern division is home to some great teams who have some fantastic players.

"On the other side of things, it's a fresh league and importantly nobody knows about us whilst we know nothing about them, so it's going to be interesting."

Merritt remains confident that City can boost their chances of grabbing a promotion place by retaining their strong form and keeping some of their best players.

He added: "We are feeling really positive heading into the summer.

"We are going to build on what we achieved last season but a top-five finish is definitely our main target."

But Merritt is aware of the realistic chances that bigger clubs could poach a few of the his players.

"Maybe two or three players will be picked up by bigger clubs," he continued.

"But we've targeted a few players and we are actively meeting them at the moment.

"We will definitely gain a few."

Merritt is also speaking to current players to get them re-signed for next season's campaign and that the club are excited for the times ahead.

He added: "We'll definitely save money with the travelling!"

Tough year will help us, says Phillips

LONDON Welsh head coach, Rowland Phillips is confident that the experience of such a difficult campaign will help his players bounce back next season in the Greene King IPA Championship.

Seventeen of the match day squad from Saturday's 68-17 defeat to Saracens will still be at the Kassam Stadium next year, and Phillips says the experience from taking on the heavy weights of English rugby will stand them in good stead.

Phillips said: "These guys have now got Premiership experience, albeit a tough Premiership experience, and they've grown within a very tough competition.

"We have time to build on what we've started, and add to keep this development going."

But he was also concerned to see a recurring pattern of the Exiles keeping pace in the first half, only to drop off in the second.

He added: "We were competitive in the first half; the boys worked really, really hard. However, in the second half we were initially competitive but then it was the difference between the haves and have nots."

Saints savage Cornish Sharks

OXFORD Saints proved too formidable an opponent for long-term rivals Cornish Sharks as they powered past them to secure a huge 43-24 win at Abingdon Rugby Ground.

The Saints secured an early two point safety score after the Sharks punter was tackled in his own endzone and Saints quarterback Ben Denton's swirling throw was expertly caught by wide receiver Sam Armstrong, despite Sharks' Alex Bonner's attempt to block it.

Oxford's attacking was ominously smooth and coordinated but the Sharks found a way back into the game after Sharks quarterback Perran Andrews found a receiver, who charged 50 yards into the endzone.

Denton and Armstrong were the dynamic duo and Denton's second quarter pass was caught by Armstrong, who gave them a 15-7 lead.

Sharks scored a field goal shortly before the break, and running back Shaun Griffin gave the visitors the lead.

Oxford fought back after the break and took a 23-17 lead through Ryan Kingshott and Rich Bloomer, scoring touchdowns before Sharks' Richard Howlett scored with a tremendous run.

James Walter's charge through the middle gave the Saints a 31-24 lead and in the fourth quarter, Oxford rounded the game off as Walter grabbed a second with a 74-yard touchdown run and veteran linesman Stuart Cribbes scored the first touchdown of his career.

Welsh's nightmare season ends with loss

THE Exiles can breathe a sigh of relief after their nightmarish season in the Aviva Premiership was brought to an end in bruising fashion after Saracens ran riot at the Kassam Stadium in a 68-17 result.

Exiles' captain and Premiership stalwart Tom May brought his 17-year playing career to a close as Welsh seemed to completely fold in the second half to a far superior Saracens side.

The Exiles have known for weeks that they would be playing their rugby in the Greene King IPA Championship next season, and the side will be hoping to rebuild their squad at the Kassam over the summer.

Saracens needed an emphatic victory to secure a play-off place for the away side and from the off, they launched their assault on the Exiles.

Billy Vunipola got the first points on the scoreboard as he touched down early on, before Owen Farrell converted.

May then played a pivotal role in the Welsh response as he launched an attack, sidestepping his way through before feeding Nic Reynolds to score beneath the posts, which Chris Elder converted.

Saracens then grabbed themselves a second try, when David Strettle went over in the corner.

The Exiles rallied once more but couldn't break the Saracens defence as Elder kicked a penalty through the posts.

Shortly afterwards, Saracens broke through once more and added a third try through Mako Vunipola, only for Elder to score a wonderful try after catching from the restart.

The visitors weren't happy and Chris Ashton scored his first try of the day as he went over on the cusp of half-time.

The second half was all about the visitors as Alex Goode charged over after Welsh were caught napping.

Goode worked his magic again shortly afterwards and played in Juan Figallo, before Chris Ashton showed his class as the winger crossed three times in five minutes and Charlie Hodgson rounded things off for a starry finish for Saracens.

In the end it was job done for Saracens as they ousted Exeter for the fourth-place spot by 20 points, whilst the Exiles look to stake a claim for a fast route back to the top division.

Oxford United announce four pre-season friendlies

OXFORD United have announced four pre-season games ahead of the start of their League Two campaign in August.

United will take on Oxfordshire rivals Didcot Town on July 11 to kick-start the run of fixtures, in what promises to be a lively contest at the Loop Meadow stadium.

The U's will then have a 10-day break before taking on Vanarama Conference side Woking FC in an evening contest.

A third away game for United follows as they head south to Eastleigh on July 25, where they will face off against several ex-United players.

They then return home where they will take on Coventry City at the Kassam Stadium on August 1.

United confirmed that further pre-season games ahead of the upcoming campaign are being finalised.

United Women victorious against Bees

OXFORD United Women fought off a late comeback from London Bees to secure themselves back-to-back wins in the Women's Super League Two.

Kayleigh Hines and Katie Stanley put United into a comfortable 2-0 first half lead, before Bee's Gemma Fraser tapped in an opportunity late on to set up a tense finish.

Hines' goal came from a dipping free-kick which she curled into the left-hand corner, with Stanley doubling the lead after firing in what looked like a cross, but was fumbled by Bees' keeper Sophie Harris and turned over the line.

Stanley nearly added a third when Hines delivered a ball over the top of the defence, but skewered it wide.

Kat Nurman was then played in by Stanley but had her shot blocked when one-on-one with the Bees' keeper.

Bees' Lucy Loomes saw her goal ruled out for offside before Fraser's shot gave the visitors a chance late on.

And Bees' Ashley Goddard was unlucky not to snatch an equaliser in the dying moments as United held on.

Smith impressive in Le Mans contest

OXFORD'S Bradley Smith secured a notable sixth position at the famous Le Mans circuit at the MotoGP French Grand Prix on Sunday.

Smith had a fantastic start, fighting his way through the first lap to maintain his grid position.

The young rider successfully caught and overtook reigning champion Marc Marquez on lap five in a silky move, and halfway through the race was looking at a fifth place finish.

Smith started a tense fight-off with Andrea Iannone for fourth but couldn't hold his fifth place as Marquez fought back.

Smith is only a point behind fellow Brit Cal Crutchlow in the standings and said after the race: "To end up fighting with the reigning champion is where we want to be so I have to be happy with where I finished."

Hornets inflict stinging defeat on poor Blues

OXFORD RL were completely outclassed by a rampant Rochdale Hornets sides as the hosts inflicted a punishing 76-16 defeat on The Blues.

In a game where it seemed the Hornets were queuing up to score, the Blues struggled to organise their defence and were made to pay.

Dale Bloomfield got things moving for the Hornets as he crossed in from the corner, before solid passing allowed Danny Yates to stroll through the defence to a second as Paul Crook converted both.

Before long, the floodgates opened and Bloomfield barrelled through for his second, shortly followed by Luke Thompson and then Jack Ashworth scored the Hornets' fifth with a 40-metre sprint.

Crook converted all three before a loose pass from the home side allowed Andrew Higgins to grab Oxford's first of the day.

Bloomfield then completed his hat-trick with Crook missing the conversion before the second-half saw the Hornets lay siege to the Oxford defence.

Matty Haden scored shortly after the restart before Anthony Walker trotted over, which was quickly followed by Danny Bridge crashing through the hopeless Oxford defence.

Brad Hargreaves then finished a slick Hornets move as Crook continued adding the conversions, before Tony Suffolk climbed through the scrambling Oxford defence.

The final minutes saw Oxford hit back as Nasso ran 80 metres to grab The Blues a second, with Luke Gardiner racing in for a third before Hornet's Crook had the final say with a driving try.

Oxford RL next entertain University of Gloucestershire All Golds on May 31.

U'S BOSS ACKLING PARTS WITH CLUB

Manager leaves after seven months with Abingdon

GARY Ackling claimed it was a mutual decision after he parted ways with Abingdon United as manager on Monday.

Ackling leaves following a meeting with the club's chairman, after he guided United to a 15th-place finish this season.

The ex-Wantage Town manager joined the club in October last year, taking over from Andy Zoldan.

Abingdon were in 18th position at the time and Ackling's main objective was to keep the club in the Hellenic League Premier Division.

Assistant manager Andy Lyne and coach Rob Wytchard have also left the club.

Speaking to the Guardian, Ackling said there was no ill sentiment after the announcement and that he started to reconsider his role after being told the budget for next season wouldn't be as he expected.

He said: "There are no hard feelings.

"When it came down to it I've been in management for 25 years and I'm always going to be wanting to chase trophies.

"The club wanted to go in a different direction and it turns out it's not the job for me and they'll get someone in who's more fitted to their ideals than me."

Ackling added: "It is just one of those things in football.

"They are a great club and I'm still going to support them in everything that they are trying to do."

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Debbie Blackmore, Abingdon United chairperson, said: "The team of Gary Ackling, Andy Lyne and Rob Wytchard did exactly what was asked of them last season, which was to stay up in the Hellenic League Premier.

"They were brought in to do a job and that is what they did.

"Abingdon United will always be extremely grateful to the management team for what they have done for us but now is the time to move in."

Blackmore added that the club is now seeking to attract a young local manager with contacts to local players and to take on the club's new youth policies.
